

MISSOURI THREATENS IOWA CITY

THREE FIRES CAUSE HEAVY MANDAN LOSS

Fredericks Hardware Store Is Burned in an Early Morning Fire

ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

Sparks From Roof Threaten
Another Store—Residence
Is Burned Today

Three fires in Mandan, two last night and today, did considerable damage and threatened to do more with a stiff gale blowing during that time.

Fire at 2 o'clock this morning
completely destroyed the stock and building of the J. B. Fredericks hardware store at 104 Main street. The origin
of the fire is unknown.

The fire started in the central part of the store and had made so much headway when it was discovered that it was impossible to check it. The loss is from $18,000 to $25,000, partly
covered by insurance.

Sparks from the Fredericks store
set fire to the roof of the A.
Rosen grocery store, but the blaze was extinguished with little difficulty
and small loss.

Fire at 10 o'clock this morning
practically destroyed the residence of
J. H. Rosen, coal operator, living at 112 Twelfth avenue, northwest, Mandan. A defective chimney flue is believed responsible for the fire. Practically all of the household goods were removed, but due to the fact that the residence is located a considerable distance from a fire hydrant, slow connections were made and the fire got a strong start. The loss was around $1,000.

INDIAN KILLED IN FIGHT WITH HOSTILE PIUTES

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 23.—
Word was received here this morning to the effect that a skirmish between the renegade Piutes and a white posse near Washington, southern Utah, one Indian was killed and two backs and four squaws were captured.

HUGHES TURNS DOWN SOVIET

American Secretary of State
Again Declines Any Recognition

Washington, March 22.—Secretary
Hughes flatly rejected an appeal to recognize the Russian Soviet government made to him by Representatives of the women's committee for recognition of Russia and, in a formal statement, declared the "salvation of Russia cannot be contrived
outside and injected."

The statement, which was made to the delegation in reply to arguments
it advanced, touched Russian government, trade, finance, economics
and various policies inaugurated by the Soviet affecting international relations.

Mr. Hughes' discussion of these subjects did not reveal any probability of action by the Washington government looking to recognition of the Soviet although the hope was expressed that conditions in Russia
would change in a way which would make America's helplessness available to the people of that country.

It is his dominant thought, Mr.
Hughes said, to find ground for helplessness, recuperation and restoration of peace in Russia.

U. S. AIRPLANES AGAIN HOP OFF

San Juan, Porto Rico, Mar. 23.—
The six United States army airplanes which arrived here from San Antonio, Texas, on Monday took off on their return trip to the United States at 10:15 o'clock this morning.

3 KILLED IN WELL CAVE-IN

Snyder, Okla., Mar. 23.—Three men were killed and one injured when the walls of a well they were sinking caved in early today and buried them under five tons of dirt.
The men were 30 feet down when the accident occurred and their bodies have not been recovered.

KILL IRISH IRREGULAR
Dublin, March 22.—One Irish irregular was killed and one wounded and four captured in a raid by Free State troops in Kingsdown, today.

The Free State forces lost one man killed.

HONEYMOON — THEN JAIL!

FAMOUS U. S. FIGHTING SHIP IS DESTROYED

Iowa, Which Was in Battle of Manilla Bay, Is Sent
Down

On Board U. S. Ship Maryland,
Panama Bay, Mar. 23. Amid strains
of the Star Spangled Banner and the firing of national salutes the old battleship Iowa sank here today.
After a shelling by the super-dread-nought Mississippi, 11-inch rifles the battered hull turned slowly over on its side and slid beneath the waves.
Secretary Denby, members of the Congressional party, naval officers
and observing ship company officers stood in silent tribute to the gallant ship which won fame in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Manilla.
With this dramatic climax the winter's maneuvers of the U. S. fleet ended. The Iowa sank 70 minutes after the super-dreadnought opened up at a range of approximately nine miles.

GERMAN SEEK IMPROVEMENT OF POSITION

Paris, March 22.—Every step reported as having been taken by the Germans on behalf of Germany looking for a settlement of the German question is regarded in French official circles as a maneuver with the object of strengthening the German hand, it was said
at the French foreign office today.

At the same time it was again
officially denied that any negotiations were in progress on behalf of the French government.

The French government has not received any information whatsoever tending to show that Germany
is ready to talk in a way offering
prospects for settlement.

FARGO GIRLS WRITE THEY'LL TRY QUIET FARM LIFE WITH LOWEKEELY

Harry Lowekeely, who wrote that he wanted to forsake the bright
lights of Broadway for the beautiful moonlight evenings of North Dakota a farm, and a girl, has his chance. At least two of the many fair maidens of North Dakota are interested.

Hardly had his appeal gone out
in the press until two Fargo girls
"took their pen in hand" to answer
Mr. Lowekeely. Their letters were received at the office of the Adjutant-General.

"In answer to the call to arms
message in the Forum I will say that you are the kind of man I have always dreamed about but never thought existed," wrote a Loveland maiden of Fargo. "I seldom buy
the papers but tonight I did and the 'message' was the first I laid eyes on."

The message carried a warning to Harry, however, for the writer added that "I am glad you have lost your desire for the bright lights of Broadway."

STEEL OFFICIALS DENY COMPLAINT OF TRADE BOARD

Washington, Mar. 22.—A blanket denial of the complaint of the Federal trade commission against the proposed merger of Bethlehem, Midvale and Lackawanna steel companies was filed with the commission today by the Bethlehem and Midvale companies.

The Lackawanna company filed no answer but a letter from its attorneys informed the commission it was dissolved last October and no longer had any corporate existence. The Bethlehem and Midvale companies denied flatly that mergers would eliminate competition.

I. V. A. ASSAIL FRAZIER PLAN

Say Public Officials to be Used to Get Signatures

Charging trickery is to be resorted
to in an effort to get signatures for the election law referendum, the I. V. A. headquarters issued a statement
today as follows:

"Having failed to get the petitions
for referendum on the election law circulated on township election day
this week, Mr. R. W. Frazier is now eagerly trying to get signatures on them behind another screen than that of the Republican party. The new scheme is to have a public official to get signatures on a purely political petition. The assessors are to be asked to carry the petitions and thus
get thousands of signatures from unsuspecting voters who will think they are signing something for the assessor's
records instead of a political petition circulated in behalf of a group
of voters who are not willing to give
the election laws a fair trial and who,
apparently, are not willing to go out and get signatures on them in the open."

The letter was addressed "S. O. S.
Harry Lowekeely."

Another wrote that "As I was reading the Forum of this evening I note your advertisement for a life companion. As for Broadway and its bright lights, can say I never did have the least desire, as reading the books and stories is enough for me."

She also added "And the nice quiet country life is one thing I have always longed for but never had the chance as it seems I am doomed for the city."

The letters will be duly forwarded to Mr. Lowekeely, but since both of Governor's office and the Adjutant-General's office refuse to conduct a matrimonial bureau and turned the job over to capital newspapermen, if the letters come to thick the writers may have to enclose stamps to guarantee delivery.

PREMIER OF FRANCE STARTS CHAMBER RIOT

Assails Community Deputy
Whom He Said Made
"Abominable Accusations"

CHAMBER IS IN UPROAR

Most of Members Rise to Feet and Cheer Statements of Poincare

Paris, Mar. 23.—Premier Poincare,
angered by Communist insinuations
that he was controlled by Deputy Leon Debeaut, the royalist leader,
started a scene of wild disorder when
in an open session of the Chamber today
he called Communist Deputy Andre Heithon an "abominable scoundrel."

The Chamber immediately went
wild while deputies hammered their
desks and the ushers ran about trying to restore order. The presiding officer vainly rang his bell for a quarter of an hour to get a hearing
and calm the chamber down.

"The Chamber," Mr. Poincare pointed at Deputy Berthoin, "dare to say he had against me and my abominable evidence which I fear would be published."

He lied when he said that, the premier angrily ejaculated and the deputies, most of him who had not heard M. Berthoin's accusations,
jumped to their feet, all of them
with the exception of the Communists and a few of the radicals cheering Poincare madly.

PREPARE PLANS FOR MEMORIAL BUILDING WORK

Board of Administration Authorizes Keith and Kurke
To Go Ahead

The board of administration, at a meeting attended by F. W. Keith,
authorized Keith and Kurke of Far-
go, state architects, to proceed with preparation of plans and specifications for completion of the Liberty Memorial Building on the state capital grounds, which is expected to house several state departments.

The work will be continued as soon as possible after the appropriation made by the legislature recently becomes effective on July
1. E. G. Wanner, secretary of the board, said today. The finishing
work includes floors, stairs, finishing of corridors, and installation
of book stacks.

No new contract will be made for the completion of the Dickinson Normal school building under the appropriation made by the legislature, according to Mr. Wanner.

A provisional contract was made last year with T. E. Powers of Fargo, contractor for the main building, for the work if an appropriation were provided, Mr.
Wanner said. It is expected the work will be completed by the opening of the fall school term.

Submit Bond to Court

Five friends or relatives of Kasimir Schneider, in jail awaiting a second trial for murder, have come to
his rescue with offer of $15,000 bail
for his release. The bonds offered were signed by Bernhard Moer, Joseph Wolf, W. M. Hiltzenderger,
J. Schneider and Margaretha Schneider, all of the vicinity of Napoleon.
On application of the states attorney the court ordered the bonds-
men to appear before him and submit to an examination as to their qualifications. Schneider's attorneys said they would produce the bonds-
men, but a date was not fixed.

If sufficient bond is offered the
court is compelled by the statutes to release Schneider on bond. States Attorney Allen said today. He said
this applied to all except matters
punishable by death, and treason
alone is punishable by death in this state.

Washington, Mar. 23.—Charges that there is a conspiracy in the sugar
trade to raise prices were said at the Department of Justice today to be of sufficient gravity to warrant a preliminary inquiry by the Federal government legal officers. A conference was arranged between Acting Attorney General Seymour and Secretary
Hoover with a view of planning ac-

Fear of Evil Effects on European Thought May Halt
Its Consideration

U. S. AMONG OPPOSED

of Monroe Doctrine, Is View Given

Santiago, Mar. 23.—With the arrival of the Uruguayan delegation it has become generally known that the Uruguay is not disposed to press upon the Pan-American conference opening here Sunday the plan for a league of American nations.
It is reported that a sentiment of
a majority of the delegation including that of the United States is opposed to considering the plan at this conference. The view is said to have been informally communicated to Uruguay.

There seems to be general agreement that the proposal would not be disposed of without consideration of the Monroe Doctrine and it is pointed out that its adoption would virtually make the doctrine a Pan-American pronouncement.

The opinion that nothing will
transpire at the Pan-American conference which Europe can justly interpret as signifying a device upon the part of the American nations to isolate themselves was expressed to
the correspondents today by Augustine Edwards, president of the Assembly of the League of Nations.

Senior Edwards, who is head of the Chilean delegation, will preside at
the opening session of the Congress next Sunday. But there was a mistaken belief among the peoples of Europe that Pan-American conferences were exclusive affairs, antagonistic to everything European. He said he believed that the spirit of the average American nations might be truthfully interpreted in the statement that although the object
of the conference was mainly the welfare of Pan-America, it was ultimately that of the whole world.

Reserve Board Member
Here to Learn

Attendance of representative business men and farmers of the entire
Slope country at the meeting here
on March 27 with John R. Mitchell of the Federal Reserve Board and others, was urged today by W. W.
Webb, president of the Association of Commerce.

"Not only ought we feel a responsibility in greeting these high officials of the Federal Reserve System
and leaders in agricultural thought,
but representative business men and farmers ought to be present to give the views of the section of the state and to inform them of its needs," said Mr. Webb. "The Federal Reserve system vitally affects the business life of the state. If there is any criticism from this state the officials would be glad to learn of it, and I am sure they want particularly to learn of ways in which our people believe the system could aid the Northwestern states."

The party will include in addition
to Mr. Mitchell, Curtis L. Mosher of the Federal Reserve bank at Minneapolis, Harry Owen editor of Farm,
Stock and Home, and Dan Wallace,
editor of the St. Paul Farmer. There will be an afternoon meeting on Mar.
27, followed by an open forum dinner
by the Association of Commerce.

COMMUNISTS PROTEST RUHR OCCUPANCY

Frankfort on the Maine, March 22.—Communist demonstrations are to be held in all the countries of the world from April 15 to 22
as part of an international protest week program directed primarily against occupation of the Ruhr, according to a resolution adopted at the closing session of the International Communists conference here.

The resolution shall include demonstrations against the Treaty of Versailles, the danger of war, and against Fascism.

"DIRT FARMER" MEMBER DIES

Washington, Mar. 23.—Milo D.
Campbell of Michigan, who recently became a "dirt farmer" member of the federal reserve board, dropped dead while playing golf at the Col-

BERLIN BACKS RESISTANCE OF RUHR DISTRICT

Call General Strike of Coal
Miners in Ruhr
April 1

MAKE HUGE LOANS

Essen, March 23.—A credit of 400-
000,000 marks has been granted
the German coal syndicate by the Berlin government to aid in the continuance of passive resistance
in the Ruhr according to a French
announcement today.

Additional credit running into 100,000,000,000, has been arranged by the central government for the Ruhr industrialists generally, it is asserted. These credits made to Ruhr coal mines and factories by
the government to keep the men
employed at work of some sort and
to prevent unrest.

A general strike for one month
beginning April 1 against the Ruhr occupation has been called in the Hagen region just outside the occupied territory.

Posters announcing the strike say
half of the wages will be paid by the industrialist and half by the government.

MINISTER SPEAKS

London, March 23.—The Prussian minister of the interior Herr Fe-vering told the Prussian diet today according to a Central news dispatch from Berlin—that Lieut. Ross-Batch,
recently arrested in Berlin planned
a revolution which was set to break out March 31 at the latest.

A combination of the German peoples and Liberal parties and the Bavarian socialist he added, had only been averted by yesterday's arrest
states.

Minister Laganet announced today.

JONES IS TAKEN FROM JAIL HERE

C. R. Jones, who pleaded guilty in federal court here, recently and
was sentenced to serve three years
in prison at Leavenworth, Kan.,
was taken to Fargo by Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal Wattles, and after being held in Fargo for a

Washington, Mar. 23.—Government
national scientists are trying to determine the cause of "spots" between a number of cities in the United States which form an almost impenetrable barrier to the direct
exchange of radio messages.

The most pronounced of these appears to be between Washington and Baltimore. To get a message to this point, less than 40 miles distant,
Washington senders are using Chicago and other comparatively remote cities as a relay. The pleasures of radio concert are almost completely lost.

They Are Paper Profits. However, Trader Having Problem of Disposing of Stock
Which He Bought in the Open Market, Other Traders Say—Makes Offer for

New York, Mar. 23.—There was much speculation in Wall street today as to the profits of Clarence
Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly
Stores Inc. and his associates in the corner of the Class A stock, which has been permanently stricken from
the list of the New York stock exchange after a sensational fluctuation last Tuesday.

Experienced traders estimated his paper profits from $2,500,000 to $7-500,000.

Saunders' main problem, according to those men, will be to find a market for the 200 shares he bought in the open market.

E. W. Bradford, New York representative of Saunders, said a large number of shorts had come to him
before 3—yesterday—to make a settlement at the stipulated price
of $150 a share. There is still a large short interest outstanding, and
he insisted that the price of $250
set by Mr. Saunders in his ultimatum from Memphis as the price after 3 p m would be demanded. Mr.
Bradford said no settlement had been made less than the price mentioned, but there were reports of sales of outlots at prices ranging from $100 to $145 a share by individuals anxious to make a profit out of the squeezing of the shorts. Later Mr. Saunders made public the following telegram to the New York Stock Exchange:

"To avoid loss suits with various brokerage houses I propose for full
A common stock, Piggly Wiggly
Stores Inc. that I will furnish this store upon application to the National Bank of Commerce of New York and on payment of $100 a share."

in Manner Tried, Supreme

ENGLERT IS REVERSED

The village of North Fargo won its suit to prevent annexation by the city of Fargo, in the supreme court today.

The court, in a decision written
by Judge Johnson and signed by
all other judges, the court reversed
District Judge Englert, holding
that he erred in sustaining the de-murrer of the city of Fargo to the complaint of North Dakota.

The court said the methods provided by the statute were not followed in the annexation case and
continued.

"No question is raised as to the procedure or the details of the attempted annexation," the decision
said. "The only question is whether
the city of Fargo, a municipal corporation, may, under the statutes of this state, annex a portion
of the territory embraced within
the corporate limits of the village
of North Fargo, also a municipal corporation."

Concluding the court said: "It is held that a city cannot annex a portion of the territory within the limits of an incorporated village,
although a part of the boundaries
of the village border upon and ad-
join the boundaries of the city."

MRS. R. MONROE DIES

Wilton, N. D., Mar. 23.—Mrs. R.
Monroe, for the past twenty-three years one of the most respected residents of this community, passed away

Warning Sent to Lowlands
While Effort to Break
Jam Goes On

Sioux City, Ia., Mar. 23.—Held by
an ice gorge five miles long formed
at Brassfield's Island south of here by spring flood waters of the Missouri river today threatened to sweep through parts of this city unless
the jam is broken.

Already the backed-up waters that
continue to rise while efforts were being made to break up the gorge by dynamiting has caused one death.

Several other persons were reported drowned and hundreds of head of livestock, implements and buildings were threatened.

The property damage was estimated in excess of $100,000.

As men attempted to break the water barrier warnings were sent out to all residents south of the gorge to abandon their homes. Many had already departed.

Should the gorge give way those
directing the dynamiting said the tremendous head of waters would destroy property along the lowlands
south of Brassfield's Island. Hope was held out for a period of mild weather which meteorologists said
would probably cause an early loosening of the dam.

Airplanes yesterday bombed the gorge but without result. The bombs
dropped from a height of 700 feet tore craters 200 feet wide, but these filled with soft ice. Dynamite
charges set off by crews working on the ice pack were also ineffective.
Unless the ice gorge is broken by morning flood stage will be reached at Sioux City, where the Missouri
rose ten feet last night.

The Bismarck weather bureau has received reports of breaking up of the ice in the Missouri at point north of Bismarck, and last reports were that the river was frozen in Montana, it was said.
There is no indication of an early break-up at Bismarck. Reports circulated today that the Heart river again was on a rampage were said in Mandan to be false.

Three fires in Mandan, two last

Fire at 2 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the stock and building of the J. B. Fredericks hardware
store at 104 Main street. The origin
of the fire is unknown.

The fire started in the central part
of the store and had made so much

covered by insurance.

Sparks from the Fredericks store
fire set fire to the roof of the A.

and small loss.

practically destroyed the residence of
J. H. Rosen, coal operator, living at

that the residence is located a consid-

Washington, March 22.—Secretary
Hughes flatly rejected an appeal to recognize the Russian Soviet government made to him by Representatives of the women's committee for recognition of Russia and, in a formal statement declared the "salva-
outside and injected."

The statement, which was made to
the delegation in reply to arguments
it advanced, touched Russian gov-
and various policies inaugurated by
the Soviet affecting international relations.

Mr. Hughes' discussion of these subjects did not reveal any probability of action by the Washington government looking to recognition of
the Soviet although the hope was expressed that conditions in Russia
would change in a way which would
make America's helplessness available to the people of that country.
It is his dominant thought, Mr.
Hughes said, to find a ground for helpfulness, recuperation and restora-

Manilla Bay, Is Sent

Panama Bay, Mar. 23.—Amid strains
of the Star Spangled Banner and the
firing of national salutes the old battle ship Iowa sank here late today.
After a shelling by the super-dread-naught Mississippi's 14-inch rifles the battered hulk turned slowly over
on its side and slid beneath the waves.
Secretary Denby, members of the Congressional party, naval officers
and observing ship company officers
stood in silent tribute to the once gallant ship which won fame in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Manila.
With this dramatic climax the winter's maneuvers of the U. S. fleet entered. The Iowa sunk 70 minutes after the super-dreadnaught opened
miles.

Paris, March 22.—Every step reported as having been taken by the Germans on behalf of Germany looking for a settlement of the reparation question is regarded in French official circles as a maneuver with the object of strengthen-
ing the German hand, it was said
at the French foreign office today.
At the same time it was again
officially denied that any negotiations were in progress on behalf
of the French government.

The French government has not
received any information whatso-
ever tending to show that Germany
is ready to talk in a way offering

Harry Lowekeely, who wrote that
he wanted to forsake the bright
lights of Broadway for the beautiful moonlight evenings of North Dakota a farm, and a girl, has his chance. At least two of the many fair maidens of North Dakota are
interested.

Hardly had his appeal gone out
in the press until two Fargo girls
"took their pen in hand" to answer
Mr. Lowekeely. Their letters were received at the office of the Adjutant-General.

In answer to the call to arms
message in the Forum I will say that you are the kind of man I have always dreamed about but never thought existed," wrote a Love-lorn maiden of Fargo. "I seldom buy
the papers but tonight I did and the message" was the first I laid eyes on."

The message carried a warning to
Harry, however, for the writer ad-
Broadway."

PREMIER OF FRANCE STARTS CHAMBER RIOT

Whom He Said Made
"Abominable Accusations"

CHAMBER IS IN UPROAR

Most of Members Rise to Feets and Cheer State-

Paris, Mar. 23.—Premier Poincare,
angered by Communist insinuations
that he was controlled by Deputy
Leon Debeaut, the royalist leader,
started a scene of wild disorder when
in an open session of the Chamber
he called Communist Deputy Andre Berthoin an "abominable scoundrel."
The Chamber immediately went
wild while deputies hammered their
desks and the ushers ran about trying to restore order. The presiding
officer vainly rang his bell for a quarter of an hour to get a hearing

"That man," shouted M. Poincare, pointing at Deputy Berthoin, "dared
to say he had against me and my abominable evidence which I feared would be published."

The premier angrily ejaculated and the deputies, most of whom had not heard M. Berthoin's accusations,
jumped to their feet, all of them
with the exception of the Communists and a few of the radicals cheering Poincare madly.

PREPARE PLANS FOR MEMORIAL BUILDING WORK

Board of Administration Au-
To Go Ahead

a meeting attended by F. W. Keith,
authorized Keith and Kurke of Far-
go, state architects, to proceed with preparation of plans and specifications for completion of the Liberty Memorial Building on the
state capital grounds, which is expected to house several state departments.

soon as possible after the appropriation made by the legislature
recently becomes effective on July 1, E. G. Wanner, secretary of the board, said today. The finishing
work includes floors, stairs, finish-
of book stacks.

for the completion of the Dickinson Normal school building under the appropriation made by the legislature, according to Mr. Wan-ner. A provisional contract was made last year with T. E. Powers of Fargo, contractor on the appropriation for the work if an appropriation were provided. Mr.
Wanner said. It is expected the
work will be completed by the

Charging trickery is to be resorted
to in an effort to get signatures for the election law referendum, the I. V.
A. headquarters issued a statement
today as follows:

Having failed to get the petitions
for a referendum on the election law
circulated on township election day
this week, Mr. R. W. Frazier is now cunningly trying to get signatures on them behind another screen than that
get signatures on a purely political
get thousands of signatures from unsuspecting voters who will think they
are signing something for the assessor's
records instead of a political peti-
the election laws a fair trial and who,
apparently, are not willing to go out and get signatures on them in the open."

Submit Bond to Court

Five friends or relatives of Kasim Schneider, in jail awaiting a second trial for murder, have come to
his rescue with offer of $15,000 bail
for his release. The bonds offered were signed by Bernhard Meier, Joseph Wolf, W. M. Hiltzenderger, J.
Schneider and Margaretha Schneider, all of the vicinity of Napoleon.

On application of the states at-
men to appear before him and submit to an examination as to their qualifications. Schneider's attorneys
said they would produce the bonds-
men, but a date was not fixed.

court is compelled by the statutes to release Schneider on bond. State Attorney Allen said today. He said
this applied to all except matters
punishable by death, and treason
alone is punishable by death in this

Washington, Mar. 23.—Charges that
there is a conspiracy in the sugar
trade to raise prices were said at the Department of Justice today to be of sufficient gravity to warrant a preliminary inquiry by the Federal gov-
was arranged between Acting Attorney General Seymour and Secretary Hoover with a view of planning action.

U. S. AMONG OPPOSED

View Given

Santiago, Mar. 23.—With the arrival of the Uruguayan delegation it has become generally known that Uruguay is not disposed to press up-
on the Pan-American conference opening here Sunday the plan for a
league of American nations.

It is reported that a sentiment of
a majority of the delegation including that of the United States is opposed to considering the plan at this
conference. The view is said to have been informally communicated to Uruguay.

There seems to be general agreement that the proposal could not be disposed of without considering the Monroe Doctrine and it is pointed out that its adoption would virtually make the doctrine a Pan-American pronouncement.

The opinion that nothing will
transpire at the Pan-American conference which Europe can justly interpret as signifying a desire upon
the part of the American nations to
isolate themselves was expressed to
the correspondents today by Augustus Edwards, president of the Assembly of the League of Nations.

Senator Edwards, who is head of the Chilean delegation, will preside at
the opening session of the Congress
next Sunday, said there was a mistaken belief among the peoples of Europe that the Pan-American conferences were exclusive affairs, antagonistic to everything European. He said he believed that the spirit of the average American nations might be truthfully interpreted in the statement that although the object
of the conference was mainly the welfare of Pan-America it was ultimately that of the whole world.

BERLIN BACKS RESISTENCE OF RUHR DISTRICT

Miners in Ruhr

April 1

Essen, March 23.—A credit of 400-
000,000 marks has been granted
the German coal syndicate by the Berlin government to aid in the
continuance of passive resistance
in the Ruhr according to a French
announcement today.

Additional credit running into 100,000,000 marks has been arranged
by the central government for the
asserted. These credits made to Ruhr coal mines and factories by
the government to keep the men
employed at work of some sort and
to prevent unrest.

A general strike for one month
beginning April 1 against the Ruhr
occupation has been called in the Ruhr region just outside the occupied territory.

Posters announcing the strike say
half of the wages will be paid by
the industrialist and half by the
government.

Here to Learn

Attendance of representative business men and farmers of the entire
Slope country at the meeting here
on March 27 with John R. Mitchell
of the Federal Reserve Board and others, was urged today by W. P.
Webb, president of the Association of Commerce.

"Not only ought we feel a responsibility in greeting these high officials of the Federal Reserve System
and leaders in agricultural thought,
but representative business men and
the view of our people believe the system could aid the Northwestern
states."

The party will include in addition
to Mr. Mitchell, Curtis L. Mosher of
the Federal Reserve bank at Minneapolis, Harry Owen, editor of Farm,
Stock and Home, and Dan Wallace,
editor of the St. Paul Farmer. There
will be an afternoon meeting on Mar.
27, followed by an open forum dinner

JONES IS TAKEN FROM JAIL HERE

C. R. Jones, who pleaded guilty in federal court here, recently and
was sentenced to serve three years
in prison at Leavenworth, Kan.,
was taken to Fargo by Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal Watters, and after being held in Fargo for a few days will be taken to Leavenworth. Jones had been in jail here for several days.

Washington, Mar. 23.—Government
natural scientists are trying to determine the cause of "spots" between a number of cities in the United States which form an almost
impenetrable barrier to the direct
exchange of radio messages.

The most pronounced of these appears to be between Washington and
Baltimore. To get a message to this
point, less than 40 miles distant,
Washington senders are using Chicago and other comparatively remote
radio concert are almost completely
lost between the two cities.

radio division of the Bureau of Standards, who is trying to fathom

PROFITS OF MEMPHIS GROCER WHO RODE ON SENSATIONAL RISE OF PIGGY WIGGLY STOCK IN MILLIONS

ever, Trader Having Prob-

New York, Mar. 23.—There was
much speculation in Wall street to-
Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly
Stores Inc. and his associates in the corner of the Class A stock, which
has been permanently stricken from
the list of the New York stock exchange after a sensational fluctua-
tion last Tuesday.

Experienced traders estimated his
paper profits from $2,500,000 to $7-500,000.

Saunders main problem, according to these men, will be to find a market for the 200 shares he bought in
the open market.

E. W. Bradford, New York representative of Saunders, said a large number of shorts had come to him
before 3 p. m. yesterday to make a settlement at the stipulated price
of $150 a share. There is still a large short interest outstanding, and
he insisted that the price of $250
set by Mr. Saunders in his ultimatum from Memphis as the price after 3 p. m. would be demanded. Mr.
Bradford said no settlement had
been made less than the price men-
sales of outlets at prices ranging from $100 to $145 a share by individuals anxious to make a profit out
of the squeezing of the shorts. Later Mr. Saunders made public the following telegram to the New York
Stock Exchange:

"To avoid law suits with various brokerage houses I propose for full
A common stock, Piggly Wiggly
Stores Inc. that I will furnish this
store upon application to the National Bank of Commerce of New York and on payment of $100 a
share."

in Manner Tried, Supreme

ENGLERT IS REVERSED

The village of North Fargo won its suit to prevent annexation by the city of Fargo, in the supreme court today.

The court, in a decision written
by Judge Johnson and signed by
District Judge Englert, holding
that he erred in sustaining the de-
murrer of the city of Fargo to the complaint of North Dakota.

The court said the methods provided by the statute were not fol-
continued.

"No question is raised as to the
procedure or the details of the attempted annexation," the decision
said. "The only question is whether
the city of Fargo, a municipal
corporation, may, under the statutes of this state, annex a portion
of the territory embraced within
the corporate limits of the village
of North Fargo, also a municipal corporation."

Concluding the court said: "It
is held that a city cannot annex a
portion of the territory within the
limits of an incorporated village,
although a part of the boundaries
of the village border upon and ad-

MINISTER SPEAKS

London, March 23.—The Prussian minister of the interior Herr Forster told the Prussian diet today according to a Central news dispatch
from Berlin that Lieut. Ross-Batch,
recently arrested in Berlin planned
a revolution which as set to break out March 31 at the latest.

A combination of the German peoples and Liberal parties and the Bavarian socialist he added, had only
been averted by yesterday's arrest.

Warning Sent to Lowlands
While Effort to Break
Jam Goes On

Sioux City, Ia., Mar. 23.—Held by
an ice gorge five miles long formed
at Brassfield's Island south of here by spring flood waters of the Missouri river today threatened to sweep
through parts of this city unless
the jam is broken.

Already the backed-up waters that
continue to rise while efforts were being made to break up the gorge by dynamiting has caused one death.

Several other persons were reportedly drowned and hundreds of head
of livestock, implements and buildings were carried away.

The property damage was estimated in excess of $100,000.

As men attempted to break the water barrier warnings were sent
to all residents south of the gorge to abandon their homes. Many
had already departed.

Should the gorge give way those
directing the dynamiting said the
tremendous head of waters would
south of Brassfield's Island. Hope was held for a period of mild
weather which meteorologists said would probably cause an early lossening of the dam.

Airplanes yesterday bombed the
gorge but without result. The bombs
dropped from a height of 700 feet
there were no craters 200 feet wide, but these filled with soft ice. Dynamite
charges set off by crews working on
the ice pack were also ineffective.
Unless the ice gorge is broken by
morning flood stage will be reached
at Sioux City, where the Missouri

COMPANY A INSPECTED BY HIGH OFFICERS

Has Done Well Under Adverse Conditions, Inspecting Officers Say

Company A, 164th regiment, North Dakota National Guard, inspected last night by Col. Rogers, U. S. A., assisted by Major Manville Sprague, N. D. N. G., has done very well considering the handicap of the company in having no good place to drill or place sufficient to keep its equipment, the officers informed Adjutant General Fraser.

The inspection last night was held in the high school gymnasium. The company, under the command of the base of the Baker building, Main and Third streets, but the hall is not large enough for drills or for storage of all equipment. When the company was formed it was permitted to go ahead with the understanding that the quarters would be temporary and adequate armory facilities would have to be secured eventually. There were 51 men in line last night under Capt. Brocco.

The quartermaster detachment of the National Guard will be inspected today.

COURT AGAIN IS BUSY AFTER SHARP WARNING

Must Have Cases Ready if Jury is to be Held, Judge Jansonius Says

District court was busy again today after Judge Jansonius read "the riot act" yesterday. Finding no cases ready for trial at the time, although there is a large calendar, the judge warned lawyers that if there were no cases prepared quickly the jury would be sent home. Lawyers for some plaintiffs alleged that the defendants were delaying matters. After a few hours delay, several cases were made ready for trial. In the case of Ed Peterson against the Spring Valley Product Company and Alex Schutt the jury returned a verdict of $200 for the plaintiff. Peterson alleged he bought stock in the company on representation that he would be given certain work such as masonry and plaster work on buildings. He claimed he did not get the work, the verdict was returned.

FIRST FIRE IN MONTH FLIVVER

Department Is Called to 523 Tenth Street

The Bismarck fire department, after not responding to a fire alarm for a month, was called out again today—and the fire was a flivver.

Shortly after 11 a. m. the department was called to 523 Tenth street, where firemen said they found excelsior burning in the basement of the home of R. T. Beatt, having been started, presumably, from the furnace or ashes. The blaze was extinguished with the chemical.

The department was called to the same place in February during a blizzard, when neighbors saw smoke and thought the house was on fire. The fire at that time was some rubbish burning.

DES LACS WOMEN DUMFOUNDED BUT PLAN 'COMEBACK'

Minot, N. D., March 22.—That it will be "rough sledding" for the new administration at Des Lacs, N. D.

which was elected to office Tuesday, to succeed the women who for the past year have guided the destinies of the small Ward county village, was the prediction of Mrs. J. M. Filbert, in Minot. Mrs. Filbert lost out in her campaign for reelection as trustee. She has been in Minot during the past two weeks, serving on the district court jury.

"There's something that I don't understand about this affair," she said today. "I am positive that our administration has met with general favor at Des Lacs and it was only through some wise political move on the part of the opposition forces that we lost out. I wish that I had been there yesterday instead of in Minot. A year hence may see another change in the administration as we don't intend to remain idle."

U. S. AGENT ON STAND AGAIN

Secret Service Agent Chief Witness in Trial

St. Joseph, Mo., 22.—Francis Morrow, identified in government secret service as K.H. 37 and known to Communists as "Ashworth" and "Dag" again today was called for cross examination by Frank P. Walsh, attorney for William Z. Foster, of Chicago, on trial for violation of the Michigan syndicalism law. The government agent, arrested in the raid on the Communist party convention here last August, and the state's star witness has been on the witness stand since Monday noon. The government agent is the last agent for the state. The defense probably will not be started before next week.

Mohall Woman Wins First Place in State Contest

Butter exhibited by Mrs. S. H. Sleep of Mohall had the highest score at the recent exhibits of the North Dakota Dairywomen's Association at Fargo, William R. Page, acting secretary, announced today after completing a tabulation of the awards of judges. The score given the exhibit of Mrs. Sleep was 91.75.

Mrs. E. N. Hodahl of Mercer and Mrs. Robert Wadson of Alice tied for second high, with a score of 90.75. The third high score was 90.50, secured by Mrs. Theodore Folske of Bowman and Mrs. Henry Luth of Kenmare. Mrs. Ole Lian of Fargo followed fourth with a score of 90.00.

The creamery butter contest resulted in scores as follows: Lisbon Creamery Co., 92.0; Midland Produce Co., Fargo, 91.5; R. E. Cobb, Devils Lake, 91.25; Harvey Creamery Co., Harvey, 90.75; Bridgeman Russell, Jamestown, 90.75.

The dairy butter exhibits showed an increase of 20 per cent in number of the previous year, Mr. Page said.

Presbyterians Would Erect New Structure

Wilton, Mar. 23.—At a congregational meeting of the Wilton Presbyterians and adherents held it was decided to endeavor to build a new house of worship this coming summer, if sufficient funds could be secured.

The plan which was adopted called for a building costing from $15,000 to $18,000. A loan from the Board of Church Extension will be asked for to aid in the enterprise. From $4,000 to $6,000 will be the maximum amount which can be secured from this source, and the balance will be raised by subscription. The Wilton Presbyterians disposed of their church building two years ago to the Lutheran congregation.

MINE EMPLOYEE DIES SUDDENLY

Wilton, Mar. 23.—John Eshanko, aged 52, one of the well-known residents of North Wilton, and an employee of The Washburn Lignite Coal company, dropped dead in his home Monday evening about 9 o'clock.

Mr. Eshanko was at work at the mine Monday and after eating his supper went down town returning about 8 o'clock. He was in the house but a few minutes when he suddenly dropped to the floor. A neighbor, who was present, and Mrs. Eshanko placed him on a bed and Dr. Thompson called. He was dead when the doctor arrived. Heart failure was the cause of his sudden death.

JENSEN WINS HIS BOUT IN STRAIGHTFALLS

Bismarck Wrestler May Be Matched to Meet the French Champion

Bismarck, Minn., Mar. 23.—Thor Jensen of Bismarck, 150 pounds, won two straight falls in a wrestling bout here last night with Ed Miller, 135 pounds, of Minneapolis. Fifty-three minutes were required for the first fall, which was won on a Japanese arm lock. The second fall was won on a short arm scissors and required but 11 minutes. The bout was for a purse of $100, winner take all. The promoters of the match expect to stage another match in about six weeks, between Jensen, who has showed much class in his work and Percault, the French champion.

DEATH CLAIMS ARE ALLOWED

Workmen's Compensation Bureau Makes Three Awards

Three death claims, totalling several thousand dollars, were announced by the Workmen's Compensation Bureau today.

Mrs. Elizabeth Froelich, widow of Alex. Froelich, who died of injuries sustained while in the employ of the Service Motor Sales Company at Mandan on February 13, was awarded $1.7 a week during her life expectancy, on which the award would be $10,144.82. She had four children. Awards to each, on the basis of $2 a week to each until they attain the age of 18 years, are respectively, $1,278.71, $923.34, $699.00, and $1,116.08.

Mrs. Doris Bordson, widow of J. W. Bordson, killed while in the employ of the St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator Company at Hamden, Ramsey county, Sept. 9, 1920, was awarded $10.50 per week during the remainder of her life, and three children were awarded $2 each until they attain the age of 18 years. The award was made following decision of the supreme court, the bureau having declined to pay the award on the ground that he was not injured while on duty as an employee. Six hundred dollars attorneys' fees were awarded Mrs. Bordson's attorney.

Mrs. Tillie C. Koch, widow of Julius Koch, who died of injuries received at Buffalo on Feb. 9, 1923, while employed by the T. E. Liberson and Company in installing machinery, was awarded $10.50 per week for the remainder of her life and two children $2 each until they reach the age of 18.

There were 177 claims for injuries received during the month of February, it was stated at the bureau offices.

19-YEAR-OLD ACTRESS HITS FARRAR CHARGE

Deny That Love Affair Was Carried on with Prima Donna's Husband

New York, Mar. 23.—Official denial that Miss Stella Larrimore, 19-year-old actress and sister of Miss Francis Larrimore, Broadway star, was guilty of intimate relations with Lew Tellegen, was made today by her counsel at the hearing in the divorce suit brought against the actor by Geraldine Farrar, former prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Lewis Brinsky, counsel for the young girl, obtained from referee Mahoney an adjournment of one week in order that he might peruse the records pertaining to the alleged cohabitation of "Miss L." by Tellegen and produce his client at an open hearing to make public denial of the charges in which her name appeared.

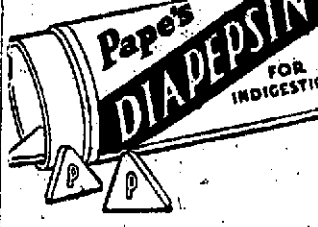

FRANK BAUMGARTNER QUILTS. Linton, N. D., Mar. 23.—Frank Baumgartner, who has been assisting in the county treasurer's office, gave up his place suddenly Monday night, and left the same evening for another location. He left a note at the office of County Treasurer Carley stating his sudden decision. Tuesday afternoon, he called up from Strasburg to arrange for collecting a small balance of salary he has coming. He gave no explanation of his future intentions.

MOTT ALARMED OVER WORLD

International Y. M. C. A. Orators Speak at Fargo

Fargo, Mar. 23.—That the world was never in a more alarming and at the same time more hopeful condition, was the opinion of Dr. John R. Mott, international Young Men's Christian association leader, expressed in the first of two addresses at a banquet at the Masonic Temple last evening. Five hundred and fifty men attended the banquet, including many from out of town.

In the second of his addresses, which followed a half-hour discussion period, Mr. Mott called attention to the need of the institution of the principles taught by Christ to men between the ages of 18 and 30.

"I have never been so alarmed over the world situation as I am today," Dr. Mott declared in opening his address. The world is in a state of suspicion, of irritation, of want of fundamental unity. The friction points between peoples and nations were never more numerous or more aggravated. The world is surcharged with distrust. The world is in an impossible situation.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL

When Mary Lerner, one of the most popular of American novelists, wrote her story, "Forsaking All Others," she took up one of the greatest of our modern problems in a modern way.

A lot of nonsense has been written about the mystic power of the "flapper" to enslave men's hearts. As a matter of fact she hasn't a Chinaman's chance beside the coquettish married woman.

The clash between the two is the fundamental situation in the Lerner story which Universal has filmed and which is at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

The poignant climax of the play comes when the broken-hearted girl is asked to save the man who left her, from her rival's enraged husband. Bitterly, she refuses.

The surprising climax of the story solves a big problem in dramatic fashion.

There is no actress appearing on the screen today who is more typical of the bubbling-with-life wholesomely average American girl than Colleen Moore.

PARENTS FIND FOR TRUANCY OF CHILDREN

Linton, March 23.—Several fines have been imposed during the past week on persons arrested for failure to comply with the compulsory school laws. Chas. Farrell, of the Hazleton neighborhood, was taken before Justice Sabraw, and fined $20 for keeping children out of school unlawfully. Anton Rohrich, living northeast of Linton, was brought to Linton and fined $15 for the same reason.

Henry Backhaus, of the Dale neighborhood, was placed under bond to await trial at the next term of district court on the charge of selling intoxicants.

THE ELTINGE

"What'll I say to President Harding?" Wesley Barry, the juvenile featured player of "Rags to Riches," the Harry Barr production sponsored by Warner Brothers, which comes to the Eltinge theatre for today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, was sorely puzzled on this subject.

Wes had received a reply from President Harding, stating he would be delighted to grant the freckled idol of screendom an interview when he toured through Washington. The lad felt he ought to do justice to such an occasion. He asked his friends what he should do, but having no precedent, they could not en-

Now, a Quick Quaker Oats

Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes The quickest cooking oats in the world

Now your grocer has Quaker Oats in two styles. One the kind you have always known—the other is Quick Quaker.

No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly. The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both. But always get Quaker Oats for their delightful flavor.

Cullen Landis has become known for his characterizations of the type of youth who might be such a girl's brother, or if he were another girl's brother, as her sweetheart.

THE ELTINGE

"What'll I say to President Harding?" Wesley Barry, the juvenile featured player of "Rags to Riches," the Harry Rapf production sponsored by Warner Brothers, which comes to the Eltinge theatre for today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, was sorely puzzled on this subject.

Wes had received a reply from President Harding, stating he would be delighted to grant the freckled idol of screenland an interview when he toured through Washington. The lad felt he ought to do justice to such an occasion. He asked his friends what he should do, but having no precedent, they could not enlighten him. Finally, he decided to prepare a speech and for weeks was busily engaged in rehearsing many florid phrases.

He was ushered into the sanctum of the chief executive, dropped his eyes to the floor, and began with Mr. President, this is indeed one of the proudest moments of my life," when he caught the kindly gaze of the President, and forgot his speech.

"Wes," he talked about pictures," he afterwards told Director Wallace Worsley.

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our beloved daughter Mary. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murphy.

Now, a Quick Quaker Oats

Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes

The quickest cooking oats in the world

Now your grocer has Quaker Oats in two styles. One the kind you have always known—the other is Quick Quaker.

Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. And it cooks to perfection. So it is almost like a ready-cooked dish.

No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly.

The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, savory oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both. But always get Quaker Oats for their delightful flavor.

Mohahl Woman Wins First Place in State Contest

Butter exhibited by Mrs. S. H. Sleep of Mohahl had the highest score at the recent exhibits of the North Dakota Dairywomen's Association at Fargo. William E. Page, state secretary, announced today that the contest for a tabulation of the awards of judges. The score given the exhibit of Mrs. Sleep was 91.75. Mrs. E. N. Hoidal of Mercer and S. Robert Wadson of Alice tied for second high, with a score of 90.75.

The third high score was 90.50, secured by Mrs. Theodore Folske of Bowman and Mrs. Henry Luth of Kenmare. Mrs. Ole Lian of Fargo followed fourth with a score of 89.00. The creamery butter contest resulted in scores as follows: Lashen Creamery Co., 92.0; Midland Produce Co., Fargo, 91.5; R. E. Cobb, Devils Lake, 91.25; Harvey Creamery Co., Harvey, 90.75; Bridgeman Russell, Jamestown, 90.75. The dairy butter exhibits showed an increase of 20 per cent in number of the previous year, Mr. Page said.

Wilton, Mar. 22.—At a congregational meeting of the Wilton Presbyterians and adherents held it was decided to endeavor to build a new house of worship this coming summer, if sufficient funds could be secured. The plan which was adopted called for a building costing from $15,000 to $18,000. A loan from the Board of Church Extension will be asked for to aid in the enterprise. From $1,000 to $6,000 will be the maximum amount which can be secured from this source, and the balance will be raised by subscription. The Wilton Presbyterians disposed of their church building two years ago to the Lutheran congregation.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

TO BE CONGRATULATED

Bismarck is indeed fortunate in obtaining the 1924 convention of the Ninth District Rotary clubs. The convention will bring to the city from 1,000 to 1,500 Rotarians and several hundred wives of Rotarians from several states. Speakers of national prominence probably will attend the convention. The convention is a good start for Bismarck in endeavoring to see a new record in 1924 as the premier convention city of North Dakota. We can only assume that it was because Bismarck had the liveliest crowd at St. Paul, or the Rotarian ladies made the most telling impression of all, that such a large convention was awarded Bismarck over other cities much larger.

IMAGINARY ILLS

A nerve specialist tells us, a woman came to him on the verge of collapse, and it developed that what she really wanted was advice about investing her money. Doc gave the advice, collected his fee. The patient went her way—relaxed, contented, cured.

A queer case? Not unusual, according to the nerve specialist. We're all more or less in an unbalanced nervous condition as a result of the war, and the specialists have come to expect anything.

Frequently a hypochondriac's mental distress actually produces counterfeit symptoms of the imagined maladies.

The hypochondriacs flit from malady to malady. One day, he imagines he has cancer of the stomach. Next day, a fear that Bright's disease is developing. And so on, leading the doctor a merry chase, he meantime feeding the patient bread pills.

The hypochondriac usually is imitative—hears that some one else has a certain malady, then begins fearing he has the same.

Now it is recognized that an unbalance of the body's endocrine glands is the most common cause of hypochondria. If the thyroid or adrenal or pituitary glands are too active or not active enough, the victim often becomes neuroathetic, imagining all kinds of symptoms, fear flitting from disease to disease.

In such condition, the "hypo" is sincere in the belief that all the maladies in the universe are clutching him.

There's still another type of hypochondriac—where the patient fakes illness and knows it. The motive here is to attract sympathy. The well person is taken for granted without fussing. The ill person gets the attention. So the hypochondriac, craving affection and attention, pretends to be ill.

We all have this craving for sympathy and care, though few of us are willing to "enjoy bad health" to get it.

As for the glandular-neuroathetic type of "hypo," it's much more agonizing to imagine you're ill than really to be ill, especially in the clutches of the mysterious maladies that originate in the endocrine glands or the imagination, and which as yet are only vaguely understood by the medical profession.

COAL

When we export coal we are robbing posterity, a railroad president warns. Evidently he is afraid our descendants will not have enough fuel. His fear is groundless. America has sufficient coal, unmined, to last over 1000 years at the rate it is being consumed now. And long before that 1000 years are up, coal will be out of date, fuel being secured by disintegrating atoms, storing sunlight, and so on.

There is never a real shortage of coal. The shortage is in mine labor and transportation. Solution of the fuel problem eventually will come by burning the coal at the mines to generate current for a country on an electrical basis.

JEALOUSY

Jealousy is a mighty force in making the world progress. Is the average radical merely jealous of what some one else has, either in the way of wealth or power?

Give a million dollars to a political fire eater, and after a few halfhearted flashes of flame you'll probably find him calmed down. Power—election to office—usually has a similar effect in making radicals conservative, though they go ahead shadow-boxing for effect. More effective, as a fire extinguisher, to give a radical a responsible public job than to lock him in jail.

Cold weather in southern states damaged insect life, including the boll weevil. Uncle Sam's agents, from their laboratory at Tallulah, La., examine moss in which the weevils spend the winter. They find 19 weevils to a ton of moss, on the average, compared with 127 a year ago.

If this reflects any general situation, it's the most important news of the year for the millions of Americans who depend on cotton for their meal ticket. Within five years scientists, using poison gases, should be able to make the boll weevil practically extinct.

SLAVES

Male slaves are sold at $6 to $24 apiece, in Abyssinia. This is revealed in an official report of the League of Nations. Female slaves, $6 down. Child slaves, no market.

This bit of news takes you back several thousand years. The glory of King Tut's tomb dazzles us. But if we had lived in his time, nine-tenths of us would have been slaves. Tut's funeral was the only bright side of his reign.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

TOWNLEY'S MOVE

Art. Townley seems to have divorced himself from political movements, and is devoting his time to securing members at $1 per in an organization which has for its purpose the organizing and pledging of wheat growers to hold their wheat for some specified price. Townley expects to canvass all the middle-west states. In his address, he is now advising his hearers that they have no business dabbling in cooperative stores newspapers etc. such as he has organized in the past. He has come to the conclusion—which has been evident to many of us from the start—that the man who is busy operating his farming business is not generally in a position to successfully compete in the operation of business ventures to which only a small amount of his time can be devoted. Townley certainly has provided the horrible examples needed to drive home his present arguments. The collapse of most of store newspaper, bank, and kindred business ventures has demonstrated first hand that special training and close application is needed to successfully pilot these various business enterprises. Those farmers who have lost hundred and even thousands of dollars in many of Townley's past ventures certainly should realize the force of his present teachings, and they ought to be glad to give him the $1 he now asks if for no other reason than to keep him from organizing any more business ventures for them. —Emmons County Record.

PASSING ON THE TORCH

You cannot come upon the ruins of the old great monuments of England, beside their waters in lovely valleys, now remote, without feeling that here is one of the choicest spots of the earth, where the spirit dwells. To me it is so important to remember that when Rome collapsed, when the great Roman empire fell into smoking ruins, and bears roamed in the streets of Lyons, and wolves howled in the deserted streets of Rome, and Europe really was a dark ruin, then, it was not in castles or manors or cottages that life remained vivid. Then those whose souls were still alive drew together and gradually built monasteries, and these monasteries and convents, little communities of quiet labor and courage isolated, helpless, and yet never overcome in a world flooded with devastation, these alone kept the human spirit from disintegration, from going quite dark, in the dark ages. These men made the church, which again made Europe, inspiring the martial faith of the Middle Ages. —D. H. Lawrence in the Dial.

MANDAN NEWS

Invokes Sundown Law in Law Suit

For the first time in the history of the state of North Dakota a case based on the fact whether it was night or day time was fought out in the courts.

This was the statement of Judge Thomas Pugh of Dickinson, when the case of David Gansch, a farmer living south of the village of Beulah in Mercer county was brought before the court on the grounds that the plaintiff had been evicted from his home in the night time.

Gansch had failed to make payments of principal and interest on the mortgage on his farm with the result that the mortgage was foreclosed. Gansch, however, was allowed to continue to make his home there after the period of redemption had expired, but failed to make any payments of any kind and refused to move.

The mortgagee wanted his property appealed to the court for an eviction order and got it. The sheriff went out to the Gansch farm to serve the papers, but Gansch who had foreclosed information, it was reported, was not at home and could not be served. The sheriff remained at the place, carrying Gansches household possession out and putting them into the road. At 6 o'clock the farmer appeared upon the scene and was served. Gansch, until recently state law librarian and supreme court reporter, who brought suit making use of the sun-down law of the state, and would have won his case had it not been that the sun lacked two hours of setting time.

Funeral services for the late William D. Dopping were held this morning at 11 o'clock at the Methodist church with Rev. W. R. Thatcher officiating. Many friends of the deceased were present to pay tribute to their old friend.

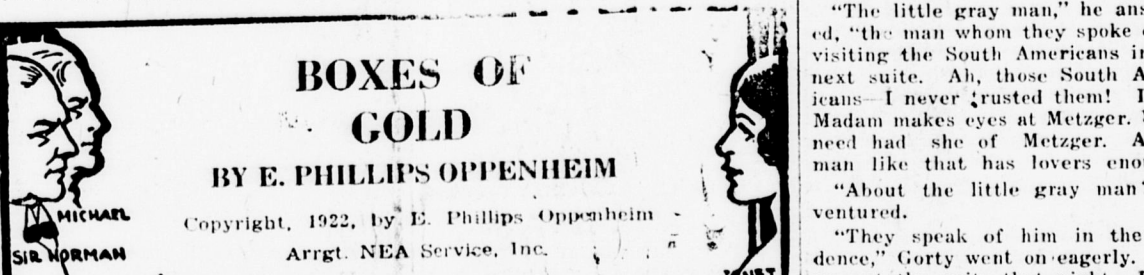

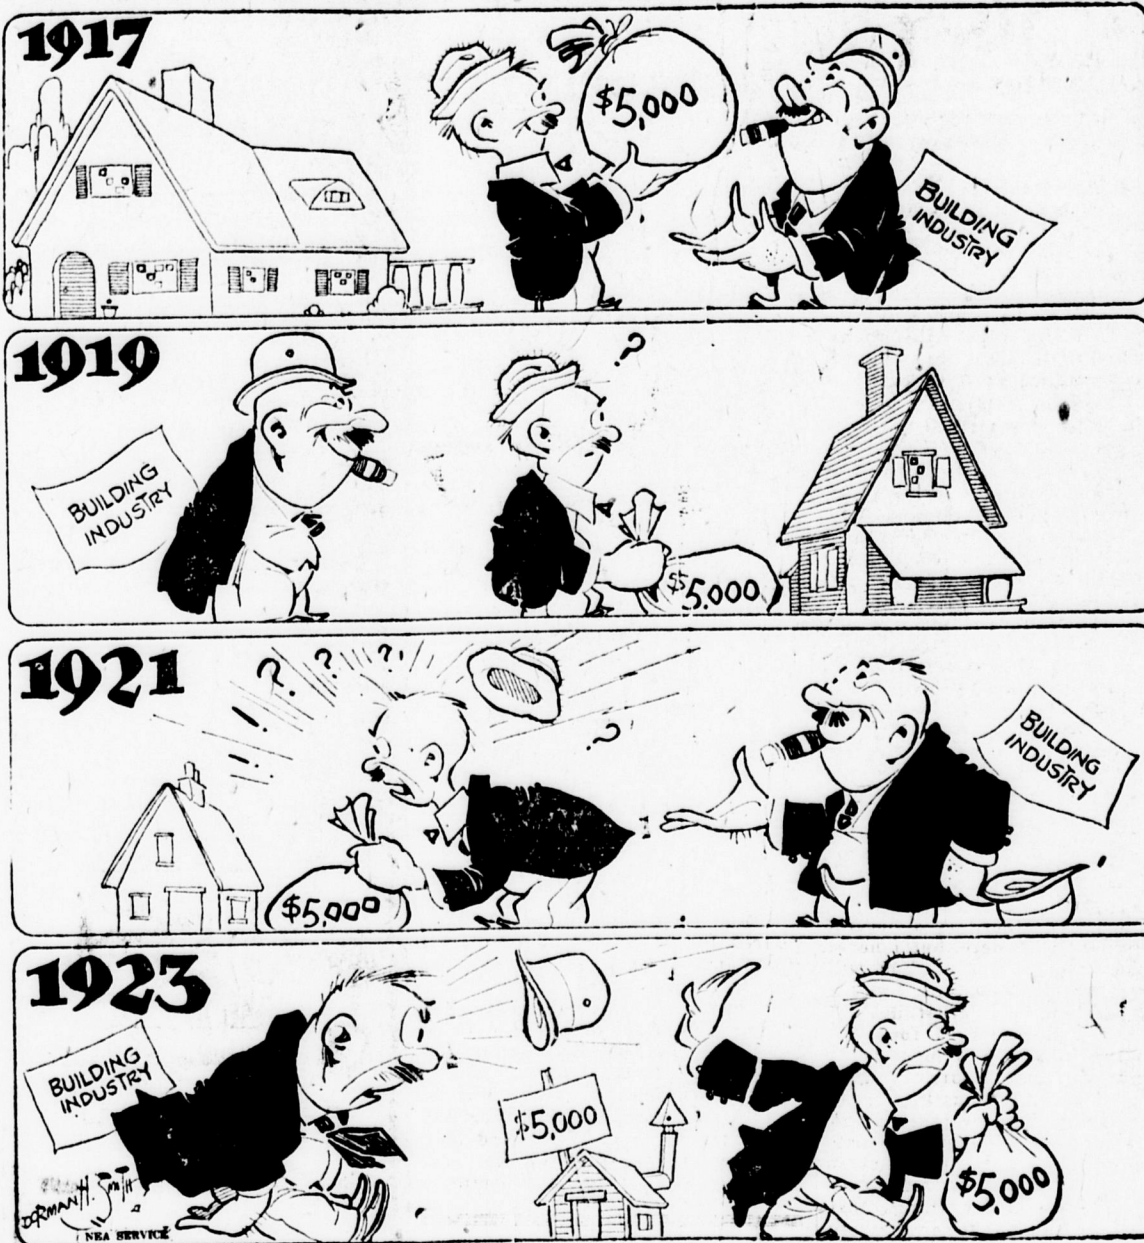

Francis Goodall, a student at Sacred Heart convent at Garrison, came to Mandan yesterday to spend the Easter vacation at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Porter and to be with his father, W. J. Goodall of Sanish, who is a patient at a Bismarck hospital.

J. W. Schock, manager of the Stiles Cattle company of Fort Rates, was in the city yesterday on business. Mr. Schock has recently returned from Montana, where he has been for a month at Townsend, and declared that range cattle in North Dakota fared better during the past winter than did the livestock on the Montana ranges.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eawtelle are expected to return today from southern Illinois, where they have been for the past month, having been called there by the illness and death of Charles Sawtelle, a brother of the former.

Funeral services for the late Henry Plau, who died suddenly Tuesday evening of paralysis were held at St. Joseph Catholic church this morning.

WHO'LL BE TO BLAME WHEN THE WORM TURNS?

Vendetta begins between

MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice.

Michael plots to rob two men, Gorty and Metzger, of seven boxes of gold brought into England to establish private credits. It is arranged for two masquerades, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, to assist in the robbery. During the absence of Michael, Metzger, to assist in the robbery, renders him unconscious. The boxes of gold are substituted for luggage taken from the hotel by the de Miguel, who leave for parts unknown. Greys is called so investigate.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

SIR NORMAN CONTINUES:

"I do," was the confident reply. "He was chased out of the States; we have granted an extradition warrant against him on the charge of manslaughter; we have watched every steamship at every port; yet I don't mind confessing to you that we have been unable to locate him."

Gorty, Madam de Miguel entices Metzger to her hotel room where Michael, renders him unconscious. The boxes of gold are substituted for luggage taken from the hotel by the de Miguel, who leave for parts unknown. Greys is called so investigate.

NOTWITHSTANDING

Remington's conviction, I started on no mad quest of my enemy: I had no inspiration as to where to begin my search. Janet had left Alhambra Court and had not replied to the various notes which I had written her. I had a vague idea that there was danger in prosecuting inquiries for her too closely.

There was always a lotterer of some sort or another in the street when I entered or left my rooms. I felt surreptitious eyes upon me often, when I lunched or dined or visited late through Lansdowne Passage, and heard the patter of rubber-soled feet behind me. I swung around, and my pursuer, whoever he was, a burly but agile figure, took refuge in flight.

It was about three weeks after the attack upon Metzger and the disappearance of the gold, when I received a most unexpected visitor. I heard a shrill, foreign voice in the hall overriding my servant's objections, and a moment later a man entered unannounced and evidently in a state of some excitement.

"You are Sir Norman Greys?" he said. "I am Gorty. I came to this country of outthroats with Metzger—with him who lies in the hospital. Will you listen to me?"

I mentioned to Adams to leave us, and wheeled around an easy-chair for my visitor.

"What am I to think?" he demanded fiercely. "I come from a great but poor government. With much trouble we got together the gold with which to buy materials in this country and open credits. It is you who are supposed to be more civilized than any other country. I go to Manchester to speak at a meeting. I come back, and what do I find? My comrade brutally assaulted, my country's gold stolen! Yes, and that in the heart of your London—in the center of your civilization! What am I to think of you, then, as a people, I ask?"

"It was a most unusual crime," I told him, "but you must remember that we were taking grave risks in having a large amount of gold like that unsecured in your room. The police, however, are doing—"

"Your police? They are imbeciles—imbeciles or rascals. I know not which! And as to having the money unguarded, how would we help it? There are many banks in London who say we owe them money. What would have happened if I had deposited my gold there? They would have annexed it. And as it is, do you believe that it is an ordinary thief who has robbed us? No! I am afraid," I said, "that you are taking a very extreme view of things. However, under the circumstances I cannot blame you for feeling ill used. Tell me what brings you here."

"Ten years ago," he went on, suddenly calmer, "I was in the service of the police of my country. There was an anarchist plot. Three criminals escaped to London. You were at Scotland Yard, and I came to see you. You found me those criminals."

"Tell me what can I do for you?" I asked.

"Find me my gold," he demanded. "Find me the man who attacked Metzger."

SIR NORMAN TALKS:

He drew his easy-chair a little closer to mine. He evaded my box of cigarettes hungrily. I placed it by his side, and handed him a match. He smoked furiously.

"I have a piece of evidence, I will not take it to the police. I do not trust them. You shall find me my gold."

"What is your piece of evidence?" I asked.

"The little gray man," he answered,

"the man whom they spoke of as visiting the South Americans in the next suite. Ah, those South Americans—I never trusted them! I saw Madam makes eyes at Metzger. What need had she of Metzger. A woman like that has lovers enough."

"About the little gray man?" I ventured.

"They speak of him in the evidence," Gorty went on eagerly. "He was at the suite that night. I saw him with Marlan the South American, two days before. I know where he is to be found now."

"Why the devil haven't you told the police?" I exclaimed. "That is the one man they are looking for."

"But have I not explained?" he expostulated. "I do not trust the police. Six of those solemn constables would march up in uniform to the place I spoke of, and the little gray man would slip away. I tell you, you must find him and see who he is. You must consider how to act. The assault upon Metzger was not a suggestion of something across the table. It was about the size and shape of an ordinary shotgun cartridge, but I felt certain, from the way she handled it, that it was heavy. I knew then that we were on the right track."

"You will go?"

"Tomorrow morning," I promised. Gorty arose.

"Listen, Greys," he said, "you, Sir Norman Greys. Will you swear that if you recover my gold, it comes to me?"

"I swear it," I answered.

"Then throughout the man you will find it," he declared.

GORTY was right. The moment when, from my place of concealment, I saw him come shuffling into the reading-room and take his place nearly opposite to me at the great round table, I knew very well that this was Michael. He carried with him two or three books, a volume of reference and a notebook. He had the appearance of the most devout bibliophile, and indeed, having watched him for some time, I came to the conclusion that he was in earnest about his labors. It was in these little ways that Michael achieved real greatness. Detail was a passion with him. He not only appeared to be deeply interested in the Rosicrucian history. He had actually become so.

I was without doubt at fault not to have at once passed on my information to Rimmington and to have had my old adversary arrested on one of the many previous counts against him. It seemed to me, however, that this would bring to an end our chances of recovering the gold, and I could not ignore the fact that I was indebted to Gorty for the information which had delivered Michael into my hands, and therefore maintained a strict watch, and waited.

For three days and three nights I knew Michael's every movement. He made his own breakfast, lunched at a small restaurant near the Museum, and dined each night at the Monica, where he sometimes played dominoes for an hour afterward, if able to find an opponent. On the fourth night, however, he departed from his usual practices. The young woman whom I had been employing to watch him came to me in haste. "Go," she said, "he has announced, 'called at the Monica but took only an aperitif there. He walked across to Romano's and has ordered a table and dinner for two."

"Whereabouts?" I asked quickly.

"Downstairs in the restaurant, on the right-hand side," she replied. "I rank up Romano's and engaged one of the tables in the balcony. In a quarter of an hour I was ensconced there behind the curtain, with Miss Rose Weston, the young woman who had brought me the news of Michael's change of plans, for my companion. She had found time to change into evening clothes, and she played her part exceedingly well. We should have passed anywhere as a very ordinary couple, indulging in a somewhat pronounced dinner, flirtation. I kept my eyes fixed on the table at which Michael was seated below, and in due course I was rewarded. A very elegant, quietly dressed woman came into the restaurant and sank into the chair by his side. I saw at once that it was Janet."

"What you expected?" my companion asked quickly.

"In a sense," I admitted. "Remember, when they leave, it is the woman you follow."

I watched them closely from behind the curtain. There was no more distinguished-looking woman in the room than Janet, or more beautiful. She talked in a low tone to her companion, and her manner was often earnest. Nevertheless she never smiled. She was different in that respect from every one of the diners by whom she was surrounded. There was not a suggestion of levity about her. She ate moderately, drank sparingly, and talked. All the time she gave me the impression of a great weariness. Toward the end of the meal, what I had been watching for happened. She opened her handbag and produced something across the table. It was about the size and shape of an ordinary shotgun cartridge, but I felt certain, from the way she handled it, that it was heavy. I knew then that we were on the right track.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Robert Roberts

"Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!" laughed a voice.

Nancy and Nick, on their way to the Cut-Out Lady's house in Sugar-Plum Land, looked all around to see where the voice came from.

"Here I am! Right over you. If I were as big as a church and as heavy as a cannon and lost my balance, I'd fall right on top of you and smash you."

The Twins jumped.

Looking up they saw a peanut poll-parrot with tissue-paper feathers with as many colors as a gypsy's dress. He stood on a pipe-cleaner perch and had pipe-cleaner legs and pipe-cleaner feet with which to hold on to his pipe-cleaner perch.

"Hello!" said Nancy.

"Hello, yourself!" said the peanut poll-parrot. "Are you a Sugar-Plum Lander?"

"No!" Nick told him. "We are only on adventures."

"That's fine!" said the parrot. "But I know you have some brains. Most of the people here have no brains at all. And for goodness sake don't offer me a cracker. I hate crackers. I'm crackly enough as it is. Will you do me a favor?"

"Certainly," said Nancy obligingly.

"Then take this raisin to the funny cookie canary who lives over there in that paper-bag house, will you? She lost her raisin eye and now she can't see how gorgeous I am."

"Oh, yes, indeed!" promised Nancy, holding out her hand.

But the peanut parrot couldn't find the raisin. He hopped down off his perch and looked everywhere. "I hid it behind this rock-cookie," he screamed, "and now it's gone."

"I ate it! I ate it!" called somebody. It was the maple-sugar rooster whose head came idly. "I don't want the lemon-cookie canary to see you. Your feathers are handsomer than mine."

"You must not be jealous," said Nancy. "That's not kind. Run off and find another raisin at once, Mr. Rooster."

He flipped his sugar-wings, crowed three times, and finally flew off to get the raisin. "I guess you are right!" he called.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

Hubbert-Fosteson Joined in Marriage by Rev. Harriss

A very pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Harriss, 125 West Kessler St. at 8 o'clock this morning March 23, 1923. The contracting parties were Arnold L. Fosteson of Bismarck, but formerly of Canby, N. Dak., and Miss Nellie L. Hubbert of Bismarck. The groom was accompanied by Clifton Hubbert, brother of the charming bride, and the bride was accompanied by Miss Harriss.

The impressive ring ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church was used. Rev. H. S. Harriss officiated. Among the wedding party were Leonard H. Miller, Neil Churchill, Carroll Baker, and Mrs. William Baker, mother of the bride.

The bride wore a beautiful tan tulle and crepe gown trimmed with silk and carried a large bouquet of American Beauty roses. Mr. Fosteson for some time past has made his home in Bismarck being in the employ of The Bank of North Dakota. He is an exemplary young man. Mrs. Fosteson has grown to charming womanhood in Bismarck and is greatly admired by all who have had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was employed as a stenographer at the capital in the office of the adjutant general.

Their many admiring friends wish them life's highest, fullest and best.

Young Couple Take Marriage Vows at Evangelical Manse

The marriage of Miss Emma E. Smith, daughter of Mrs. Henry Smith of Gibbs township and Arthur L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Smith, took place this morning at 10:20 o'clock at the Evangelical parsonage. Rev. C. F. Strutz read the marriage service.

The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jones of Menoken. Mrs. Jones being a sister of the bride. The bride wore a dark traveling suit and carried a bridal bouquet. After the wedding ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the Small home 19 miles south of town at 11 o'clock. Many beautiful flowers were used for table decorations and in beautifying the house.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a host of friends in this vicinity, where they have spent their lives, both being graduates of the local high school.

Mr. Smith has a farm in Norton township where they will make their home after spending a week in the Twin Cities. They will leave on No. 4 this evening.

LETTER FROM PRISCILLA BRADFORD TO MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

MY DEAR FRIEND: A year ago, I have taken your good care to analyze the young woman who is going to marry your son. Otherwise, I confess, she would not have interested me much. She invited me to the Country Club for tea; you remember I told you about the invitation in my last letter. Mary Alden went with me.

Dear friend, I hope you will forgive me when I tell you that I am very much worried about this marriage.

I could see easily that John and this girl have nothing in common. She is very pretty and conscious of it. She is quite clever and wants you to acknowledge it. She is rather rude and quite proud of it. She is a fond of the beautiful clothes; those he wears are much too fine for one in John's circumstances—and I hate to tell you this—while we were drinking our tea she lightly opened a gold cigarette case, lighted and smoked a gold-tipped cigarette which had her monogram on it. To say I was shocked would be putting it mildly. I wanted to ask her if she ever had smoked before.

John. Surely, Mrs. Prescott, no man would ask a woman to be his wife whom he knew smoked cigarettes, even in these lax days.

While we were at the Country Club, a very good-looking young man came into the dining room and Leslie's young sister, Alice—who also was smoking—beckoned him over.

One could see that this man was desperately in love with Miss Hamilton. He never took his eyes off her. Poor fool, she must have encouraged him much before she turned him down for John. He is giving her a fancy dress party next week, but neither of them saw fit to invite me. Perhaps it is to be so wild that they knew I would not approve.

Dear Mrs. Prescott, I know you will be grieved, if not heartbroken, at this marriage. It is not at all what you could have wished for your beloved son.

Mary Alden sends her love to you and we will both go to the wedding. It is to be a grand affair—a great show of money.

Miss Hamilton is still indulging in an orgy of clothes buying; perhaps this is a good thing, as I learned in a roundabout way that she will go to John with only a modest check from her father—enough perhaps to celebrate their first wedding anniversary. Cards were played during the evening.

B. & P. W. FOOD SALE. The B. & P. W. club will hold a food sale at the Sorenson Hardware Co. on Main street tomorrow afternoon, March 24th. A few articles of fancy work and Easter favors will be put on sale at this time.

Social and Personal

A very pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. Styles Harriss, 125 West Rosser St. at 8 o'clock this morning March 23, 1923. The contracting parties were Arnold L. Fosteson of Bismarck, and formerly of Cedar, N. Dak., and Miss Nellie L. Hubbert of Bismarck. The groom was accompanied by Clifton Hubbert brother of the charming bride, and the bride was accompanied by Miss Alice Contraco.

The impressive ring ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church was used. Rev. H. S. Harriss officiated. Among the wedding party were Leonard H. Miller, Neil Churchill, Carroll Baker, and Mrs. William Baker, mother of the bride.

The bride wore a beautiful tan tulle gown with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses. Mr. Fosteson for some time past has made his home in Bismarck being in the employ of The Bank of North Dakota. He is an exemplary young man. Mrs. Fosteson has grown to charming womanhood in Bismarck and is greatly admired by all who have had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was employed as a stenographer at the capital in the office of the adjutant general.

After the ceremony they took No. 2 for points East and after a brief honeymoon will make their home in Bismarck.

Their many admiring friends wish them life's highest, fullest and best.

The marriage of Miss Emma E. Smith, daughter of Mrs. Henry Smith of Gibbs township and Arthur L. Small, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Small, took place this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Evangelical parsonage. Rev. C. F. Strutz read the marriage service.

The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jones of Menoken, Mrs. Jones being a sister of the bride. The bride wore a dark traveling suit and carried a bridal bouquet. After the wedding ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the Small home 12 miles south of town at 11 o'clock. Many beautiful flowers were used for table decorations and in beautifying the house.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Small have a host of friends in this vicinity, where they have spent their lives, both being graduates of the local high school.

Mr. Small has a farm in Norton township where they will make their home after spending a week in the Twin Cities. They will leave on No. 4 this evening.

SURPRISE FOR MISS ALFSON.

Following the meeting of the Luther League of the First Lutheran church last evening, the gathering was turned into a surprise party for Miss Alfson. Miss Alfson, who is leaving in the near future for Washington, D. C., to become a member of the office staff of Senator Lynn J. Frasier. The honor guest was presented with a beautiful handbag as a remembrance from her friends. A very pleasant social evening was enjoyed by the guests.

SURPRISE CHORUS WITH LUNCH.

Members of the Ladies Aid of McCabe Methodist church delightfully surprised the members of the choir at rehearsal last night for the musical cantata to be given on Easter Sunday, by serving lunch at the conclusion of the rehearsal. The choir, with 18 voices, will present "The Resurrection Story," by Carrie B. Adams, Easter Sunday night.

LETTER FROM PRISCILLA BRADFORD TO MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

MY DEAR FRIEND:
A you wished me, I have taken very good care to analyze the young woman who is going to marry your son. Otherwise I confess, she would not have interested me much. She invited me to the Country Club for tea; you remember I told you about the invitation in my last letter. Mary Alden went with me. Dear friend, I hope you will forgive me when I tell you that I am very much worried about this marriage.

I could see easily that John and this girl have nothing in common. She is very pretty and conscious of it. She is quite clever and wants to be noticed for it. She is rather rude and quite proud of it. She is very fond of beautiful clothes; these she was wearing were much too fine for one in John's circumstances—and I hate to tell you this—while we were drinking our tea she calmly opened a gold cigarette case and smoked a gold-tipped cigarette which had her monogram on it. To say I was shocked would be putting it mildly. I wanted to ask her if she ever had smoked before. John, surely, Mrs. Prescott, no man would ask a woman to be his wife whom he knew smoked cigarettes, even in these lax days.

While we were at the Country Club, a very good-looking young man came into the dining room and Leslie's young sister, Alice—who also was smoking—beckoned him over. One could see that this man was desperately in love with Miss Hamilton. He never took his eyes off her. Poor fool, she must have encouraged him much before she turned him down for John. He is giving her a fancy dress party next week, but neither of them saw fit to invite me. Perhaps it is to be so wild that they knew I would not approve.

Dear Mrs. Prescott, I know you will be grieved, if not heartbroken, at this marriage. It is not at all what you could have wished for your beloved son.

Mary Alden sends her love to you and we will both go to the wedding. It is to be a grand affair—a great show of money.

Miss Hamilton is still indulging in an orgy of clothes buying; perhaps this is a good thing, as I learned in a roundabout way that she will go to John with only a modest check from her father—enough perhaps to celebrate their first wedding anniversary. Cards were played during the evening.

(Established 1873)

TO BE CONGRATULATED
Bismarck is indeed fortunate in obtaining the 1924 convention of the Ninth District Rotary clubs. The convention will bring to the city from 1,000 to 1,500 Rotarians and several hundred wives of Rotarians from several states. Speakers of national prominence probably will attend the convention. The convention is a good start for Bismarck in endeavoring to see a new record in 1924 as the premier convention city of North Dakota. We can only assume that it was because Bismarck had the liveliest crowd at St. Paul, or the Rotarian ladies made the most telling impression of all, that such a large convention was awarded Bismarck over other cities much larger.

IMAGINARY ILLS
A nerve specialist tells us, a woman came to him on the verge of collapse, and it developed that what she really wanted was advice about investing her money. Doc gave the advice, collected his fee. The patient went her way—relaxed, contented, cured.
A queer case? Not unusual, according to the nerve specialist. We're all more or less in an unbalanced nervous condition as a result of the war, and the specialists have come to expect anything.

Nerve specialists report a big increase in cases of pretended illness, technically known as hypochondria. A hypochondriac is a person with morbid anxiety about his or her health.
Frequently a hypochondriac's mental distress actually produces counterfeit symptoms of the imagined maladies. The hypochondriacs fall from malady to malady. One day, he imagines he has cancer of the stomach. Next day, a fear that Bright's disease is developing. And so on, leading the doctor a merry chase, he meantime feeding the patient bread pills.
The hypochondriac usually is imitative—hears that some one else has a certain malady, then begins fearing he has the same.

A generation ago the "hypo" was considered a mental case, and even doctors smiled a trifle at him—when they weren't cursing behind his back.
Now it is recognized that an unbalance of the body's endocrine glands is the most common cause of hypochondria. If the thyroid or adrenal or pituitary glands are too active or not active enough, the victim often becomes neuroathenic, imagining all kinds of symptoms, fear flitting from disease to disease.
In such condition, the "hypo" is sincere in the belief that all the maladies in the universe are clutching him.
There's still another type of hypochondriac—where the patient fakes illness and knows it. The motive here is to attract sympathy. The well person is taken for granted without fussing. The ill person gets the attention. So the hypochondriac, craving affection and attention, pretends to be ill.

We all have this craving for sympathy and care, though few of us are willing to "enjoy bad health" to get it.

As for the glandular-neuroathenic type of "hypo," it's much more agonizing to imagine you're ill than really to be ill, especially in the clutches of the mysterious maladies that originate in the endocrine glands or the imagination, and which as yet are only vaguely understood by the medical profession.

COAL
When we export coal we are robbing posterity, a railroad president warns. Evidently he is afraid our descendants will not have enough fuel. His fear is groundless. America has sufficient coal, unmined, to last over 1000 years at the rate it is being consumed now. And long before that 1000 years are up, coal will be out of date, fuel being secured by disintegrating atoms, storing sunlight, and so on.
There is never a real shortage of coal. The shortage is in mine labor and transportation. Solution of the fuel problem eventually will come by burning the coal at the mines to generate current for a country on an electrical basis.

JEALOUSY
Jealousy is a mighty force in making the world progress. Is the average radical merely jealous of what some one else has, either in the way of wealth or power?
Give a million dollars to a political fire eater, and after a few halfhearted flashes of flame you'll probably find him calmed down. Power—election to office—usually has a similar effect in making radicals conservative, though they go ahead shadow-boxing for effect. More effective, as a fire extinguisher, to give a radical a responsible public job than to lock him in jail.

Cold weather in southern states damaged insect life, including the boll weevil. Uncle Sam's agents, from their laboratory at Tallulah, La., examine moss in which the weevils spend the winter. They find 19 weevils to a ton of moss, on the average, compared with 127 a year ago.
If this reflects any general situation, it's the most important news of the year for the millions of Americans who depend on cotton for their meal ticket. Within five years scientists, using poison gases, should be able to make the boll weevil practically extinct.

SLAVES
Male slaves are sold at $6 to $24 apiece, in Abyssinia. This is revealed in an official report of the League of Nations. Female slaves, $6 down. Child slaves, no market.
This bit of news takes you back several thousand years. The glory of King Tut's tomb dazzles us. But if we had lived in his time, nine-tenths of us would have been slaves. Tut's funeral was the only bright side of his reign.

TOWNLEY'S MOVE
Art. Townley seems to have dislocated himself from political movements, and is devoting his time to securing members at $1 per in an organization which has for its purpose the organizing and pledging of wheat growers to hold their wheat for some specified price. Townley expects to canvass all the middle-west states. In his address, he is now advising his hearers that they have no business dealing in cooperative stores, newspapers, etc., such as he has organized in the past. He has come to the conclusion which has been evident to many of us, from the start, that the man who is busy operating his farming business is not generally in a position to successfully compete in the operation of business ventures to which only a small amount of his time can be devoted. Townley certainly has provided the horrible examples needed to drive home his present arguments. The collapse of most of store newspaper, bank, and kindred business ventures has demonstrated that special training and close application is needed to successfully run these various business enterprises. These farmers who have lost hundred and even thousands of dollars in many of Townley's past ventures certainly should realize the force of his present teachings, and they ought to be glad to give him the $1 he now asks if for no other reason than to keep him from organizing any more business ventures for them. — Kinross County Record.

PASSING ON THE TORCH
You cannot come upon the ruins of the old great monasteries of England, beside their waters, in some twenty valleys, now deserted, without feeling that here is one of the choice spots of the earth, where the spirit dwells. To me it is so important to remember that when Rome collapsed, when the great Roman empire fell into smoking ruins, and hearse roamed in the streets of Lyons, and wolves howled in the deserted streets of Rome, and Europe really was a dark ruin, then, it was not in castles, or manors, or cottages that life renewed itself. Then those whose souls were still alive drew together and gradually built monasteries, and these monasteries and convents little communities of quiet labor and courage isolated, helpless, and yet never overcome in a world flooded with devastation, these alone kept the human spirit from disintegration from going quite dark, in the church, which again made Europe, inspiring the martial faith of the Middle Ages. — D. H. Lawrence in the Dial.

MANDAN NEWS

Invokes Sundown Law in Law Suit

For the first time in the history of the state of North Dakota a case involving the fact whether it was night or day time was fought out in the courts.
This was the statement of Judge Thomas Pugh of Dickinson, when the case of David Gansch, a farmer living south of the village of Beulah in Mercer county was brought before the court on the grounds that the plaintiff had been evicted from his home in the night time.
Gansch had failed to make payments of principal and interest on the mortgage on his farm with the result that the mortgage was foreclosed. Gansch, however, was allowed to continue to make his home there after the period of redemption had expired, but failed to make any payments of any kind, and refused to move.
The mortgagee wanted his property, and the court, for an eviction order and not to let the sheriff go out to the Gansch farm to serve the papers, but Gansch who had forebanded information, it was reported, was not at home and could not be served. The sheriff remained at the place, carrying Gansch's household possessions out and putting them into the road. At 11 o'clock the farmer appeared upon the scene and was served.
Gansch consulted Attorney Joseph Cochran, until recently state law librarian and supreme court reporter, who brought suit making use of the sundown law of the state, and would have won his case had it not been that the sun lacked two hours of setting time.

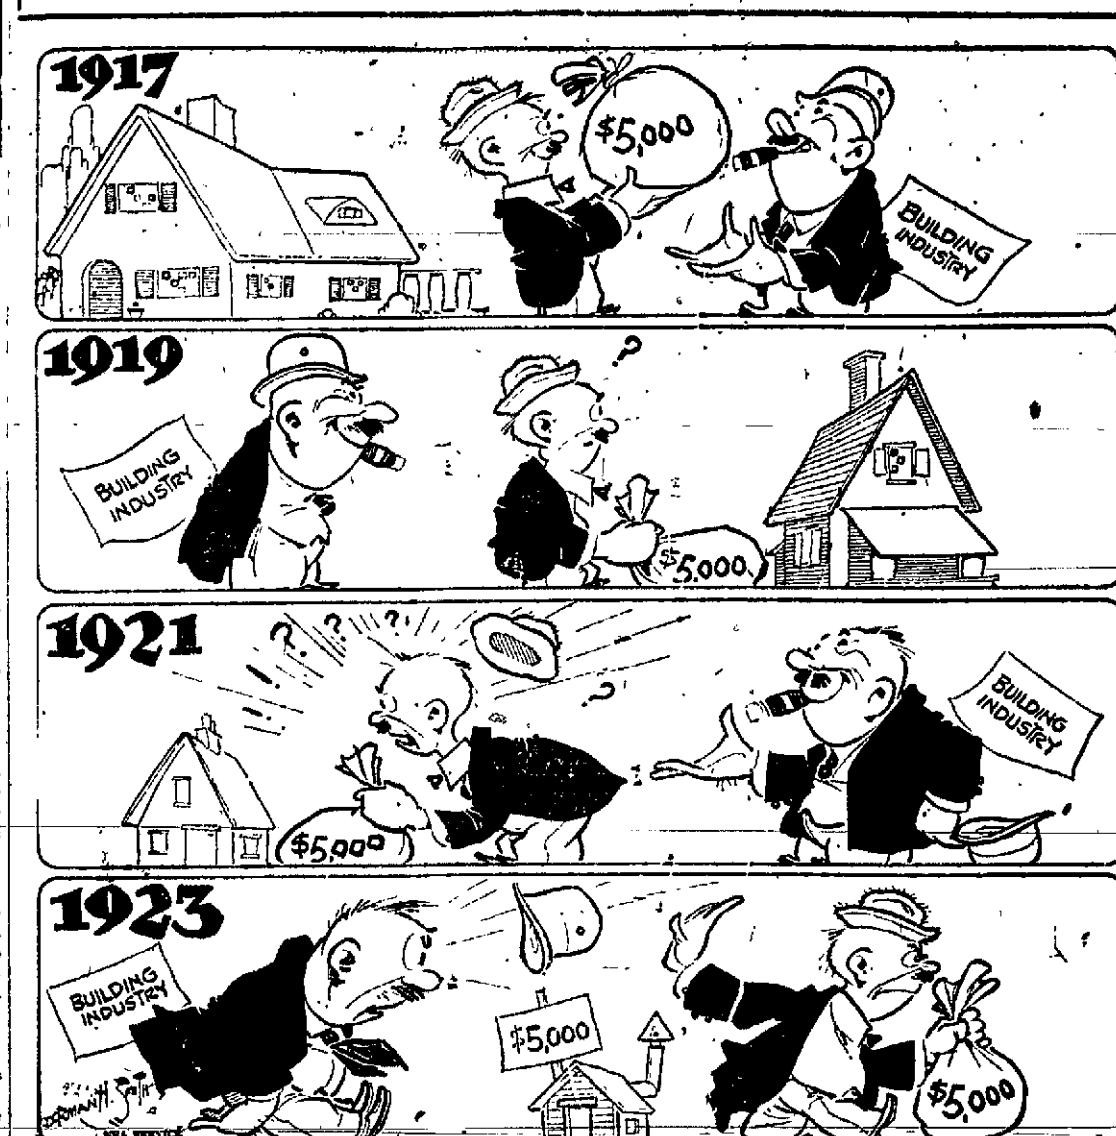

Funeral services for the late William D. Dopping were held this morning at 11 o'clock at the Methodist church with Rev. W. R. Thatcher officiating. Many friends of the deceased were present to pay tribute to their old friend.
Francis Goodall, a student at Sacred Heart convent at Garrison, came to Mandan yesterday to spend the Easter vacation at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Porter, and to be with his father, W. J. Goodall, of Sarah, who is a patient at the Bismarck hospital.

J. W. Schock, manager of the Stiles Cattle company of Fort Yates, was in the city yesterday on business. Mr. Schock has recently returned from Montana, where he has been for a number of months, and declared that range cattle in North Dakota fared better during the past winter than did the livestock on the Montana ranges.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eastwelle are expected to return today from their European tour, where they have been for the past month, having been called there by the illness and death of Charles Sawtelle, a brother of the former.

Funeral services for the late Henry Plau, who died suddenly Tuesday evening of paralysis, were held at St. Joseph Catholic church this morning.

WHO'LL BE TO BLAME WHEN THE WORM TURNS?

BOXES OF GOLD
BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM
Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim Arrt. NEA Service, Inc.

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. Michael plots to rob two men, Gorty and Metzger, of seven boxes of gold brought into England to establish private credits. It is arranged for two masquerades, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, to assist Michael. During the absence of Gorty, Madam de Miguel entices Metzger to her hotel room where Michael renders him unconscious. The boxes of gold are substituted for luggage taken from the hotel by the de Miguels, who leave for Paris unknown. Greyes is called so investigated.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
SIR NORMAN CONTINUES: "I do," was the confident reply. "He was chased out of the States, we have granted an extradition warrant against him on the charge of manslaughter; we have watched every steamship at every port; yet I don't mind confessing to you that we have reason to believe that he is in London at the present moment and in touch with his old associates."
"Tell me what can I do for you?" I asked.

SIP NORMAN TALKS
He drew his easy-chair a little closer to mine. He evict my box of cigarettes hungrily. I placed it by his side, and handed him a match. He smoked furiously.
"Listen," he continued. "I have a piece of evidence. I will not take it to the police. I do not trust them. You shall find me my gold. What is your piece of evidence?" I asked.

"Ten years ago," he went on, suddenly calmer, "I was in the service of the police of my country. There was an anarchist plot. Three criminals escaped to London. You were at Scotland Yard, and I came to see you. You found me these criminals."
"What is your piece of evidence?" I asked.
"Find me my gold," he demanded. "Find me the man who attacked Metzger."

"Go to the reading-room at the British Museum between eleven and one o'clock," Gorty told me. "You will find him there, reading. I myself am a student. Twice I have sat at the next table. He is reading from some rare volumes the 'History of the Rosicrucians.'"
"Between eleven and one," I repeated.
"You will go?"
"Tomorrow morning," I promised. Gorty arose.
"Listen, Greyes," he said, "you, Sir Norman Greyes, will you swear that if you recover my gold, it comes to me?"
"I swear it," I answered.
"Then through that man you will find it," he declared.

great round table, I knew very well that this was Michael. He carried with him two or three books, a volume of reference and a notebook. He had the appearance of the most devout bibliophile, and indeed, having watched him for some time, I came to the conclusion that he was in earnest about his labors. It was in these little ways that Michael achieved real greatness. Detail was a passion with him. He not only appeared to be deeply interested in the Rosicrucian history. He had actually become so.
I was without doubt at fault not to have at once passed on my information to Himmling and to have had my old adversary arrested on one of the many previous counts against him. It seemed to me, however, that this would bring to an end our chances of recovering the gold, and I could not ignore the fact that I was indebted to Gorty for the information which had delivered Michael into my hands. I therefore maintained a strict watch, and waited.

For three days and three nights I knew Michael's every movement. He made his own breakfast, dined at a small restaurant near the Museum, and dined each night at the Monica, where he sometimes played dominoes for an hour afterward, if able to find an opponent. On the fourth night, however, he departed from his usual practices. The young woman whom I had been employing to watch him came to me in haste. "Our friend," she announced, "called at the Monica but took only an aperitif there. He walked across to Romano's and has ordered a table and dinner for two."
"Whereabouts?" I asked quickly. "Downstairs in the restaurant, on the right-hand side," she replied. "I rank up Romano's and engaged one of the tables in the balcony. In a quarter of an hour I was escorted there behind the curtain, with Miss Rose Weston, the young woman who had brought me the news of Michael's change of plans, as my companion. She had found time to change into evening clothes, and she played her part exceedingly well. We should have passed anywhere as a very ordinary couple, including in a somewhat pronounced dinner, flirtation. I kept my eye, however, on the table at which Michael was seated below, and in due course I was rewarded. A very elegant, quietly dressed woman came into the restaurant and sank into the chair by his side. I saw at once that it was Janet.

"In a sense," I admitted. "Remember, when they leave, it is the woman you follow."
I watched them closely from behind the curtain. There was no more distinguished-looking woman in the room than Janet, or more beautiful. She talked in a low tone to her companion, and her manner was often earnest. Nevertheless she never smiled. She was different in that respect from every one of the diners by whom she was surrounded. There was not a suggestion of festivity about her. She ate moderately, drank sparingly, and talked. All the time she gave me the impression of a great weariness. Toward the end of the meal, what I had been watching for happened. She opened her handbag and passed something across the table. It was about the size and shape of an ordinary shotgun cartridge, but I felt certain, from the way she handled it, that it was heavy. I knew then that we were on the right track.

WHERE EVERYBODY HAS A HORN TO TOOT.

Los Angeles, the glamorous, where all the streets are clamorous with motor cars too numerous to count; Where real-estate touts trot to you to sell a house and lot to you; And population's always on the mount.
Los Angeles, where babytalk quite naturally may be talk Of all and mines and railway lines and fruit.
A feverishly busy town, a tonic and a fizzy body, Where everybody has a horn to toot.

Los Angeles, where roses are, yet where the people's noses are Sometimes assailed with oil and sooty smoke; Where one may quickly cop a roll and just as swiftly drop a roll; Be rich today—tomorrow wholly broke!
A proud, enthusiastic town, at times a bit bombastic town, Whose boosters boast by night as well as day.
A town that has society of every known variety And every game on earth for them to play!

Los Angeles, where folly would appear to reign at Hollywood 'If you believe the tales that people spread; But where the movie-makers are as decorous as Quakers are Who labor, play a bit, and go to bed.
(Whichever tale seems best to you of these that I've expressed to you, Accept it, doubtless neither one is right— You know how rumors tangle us—and I've observed Los Angeles You know how rumors tangle us—and From there one afternoon till tan at night!

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!" laughed a voice.
Nancy and Nick, on their way to the Out Lady's house in Sugar-Plum Land, looked all around to see where the voice came from.
"Here I am! Right over you. If I were as big as a church and as heavy as a cannon and lost my balance, I'd fall right on top of you and smash you."
The Twins jumped.
Looking up they saw a peanut polliwog, with a tissue-paper feather, with as many colors as a gypsy's dress. He stood on a pipe-cleaner perch and piped with which to hold on to his pipe-cleaner perch.
"Hello!" said Nancy.
"Hello, yourself!" said the peanut polliwog. "Are you a Sugar-Plum Lander?"
"Nick told him. 'We are only on adventures.'"
"That's fine!" said the polliwog. "Then I know you have some brains. Most of the people here have no brains at all. And for goodness sake don't offer me a cracker. I hate crackers. I'm crackly enough as it is. Will you do me a favor?"
"Certainly," said Nancy obligingly.
"Then take this raisin to the fellow cookie canary who lives over there in that paper-bag house, and will you see that her raisin eye, now you can't see how gorgeous I am!"
"Oh, yes, indeed!" promised Nancy, holding out her hand.
But the peanut polliwog couldn't find the raisin. He hopped down off his perch and looked everywhere. "I hid it behind this rock-cookie," he screamed, "and now it's gone."
"I ate it!" I ate it!" called somebody. It was the maple-sugar rooster whose head came off. "I don't want the lemon-cookie canary to see you. Your feathers are handsome, but mine—"
"You must not be jealous," said Nancy. "That's no kind of Run off and find another raisin at once, Mr. Rooster."
He flapped his sugar-wings, crowded three times, and finally flew off to get the raisin. "I guess you are right!" he called.

Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN

—that's why it relieves constipation!

Half-way measures mean nothing to the man, woman or child whose very existence is threatened by the habitual clogging of the elimination channels. Foods with only part bran can never clean and sweep the intestines in the nature-way as does Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

And, Kellogg's Bran is as delicious in flavor as it is positive in its action. If it is eaten regularly—two table-spoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, with each meal—it will permanently relieve the most aggravated case.

Your health will be greatly improved within a brief period if you will eat this delicious Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, will do for you and for your loved ones. There is no time to be lost in getting the relief that Kellogg's Bran assures.

Kellogg's Bran is delightful as a cereal, sprinkled over any hot or cold cereal, or served in countless appetizing ways in baking and cooking. It makes the best sort of pancakes, muffins, mince bread, scones, etc., you ever ate. And, each mouthful contributes to health! Kellogg's Bran is printed on each package. Kellogg's Bran works for you all the time! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation.

A plump complexion or an offensive breath can both be overcome by the regular use of Kellogg's Bran, which is sold by grocers everywhere.

SPRING FISHING IS PROHIBITED AT SPIRITWOOD

Jamestown, N. D., Mar. 23.—Contractor Carl Lindberg who is constructing the new fish hatchery at Spiritwood Lake has resumed work and is now driving back and forth morning and evening, with carpenters and helpers, making the trip by truck in a little over an hour each way. If the present weather holds and the roads do not become too soft, he expects to complete the fish hatchery within a very few days.

By order of the North Dakota Game and Fish Board, notices are being posted at Spiritwood Lake by the deputy game warden warning all that all fishing is prohibited in Spiritwood Lake between April 1 and May 15, by order of the North Dakota Game and Fish Board.

BANK CASES AGAIN UP IN U. S. COURT

St. Paul and Minneapolis Banks Seek to Collect From Kintyre Company

Trial of two cases at the same time before a jury in federal court was the procedure adopted today by Judge Miller, with agreement of parties on both sides, to speed up the court business.

The plaintiff in one case is the Midland National Bank of Minneapolis and in the other the First National Bank of St. Paul. The defendant in both cases is the Kintyre Farmers Cooperative Elevator Company. The suits are for $5,000 each, on promissory notes given by the Kintyre company to the E. T. Welch Company, grain commission men of Minneapolis, and turned into the banks as collateral to loans.

Arthur Stone, attorney for plaintiffs, explaining the case to the jury today, said that the notes were given by the Kintyre Farmers Cooperative Elevator Company to the Welch grain commission firm as a part of an agreement whereby the Welch company was to finance operations of the Kintyre company in handling grain during 1921 and 1922. The Welch company later failed.

One note of $5,000, signed by the company and several directors, found its way to the Midland National Bank, one of $2,000 and one of $3,000 to the First National.

Chief witnesses for the banks were Otto M. Nelson, vice-president of the First National of St. Paul and Edgar L. Mattson, vice-president of the Midland National of Minneapolis.

The case of Keyes, receiver of the First National Bank of Eureka, S. D., against the Security State Bank of Strasburg, started yesterday before a jury, was concluded when a verdict for the defendant was directed by Judge Miller at the conclusion of the evidence. The suit was for $5,000. A similar case against the First National Bank of Linton then was dismissed by the plaintiffs without prejudice.

HILL CASE IS FAMILY HOME

Family at Devils Lake "Dig In" For Winter

Devils Lake, Mar. 23.—North Dakota's chilly blasts and heavy snows dented not Mr. and Mrs. Jay Nichols and their 11-year-old daughter, who were discovered living in a dugout about 300 yards south of the Great Northern railroad station here.

The Nichols, who say they are in "the gospel business," became stranded here last fall, after having driven to the city in a Ford, and, according to Mrs. Nichols, unable to find a house at a reasonable rent, they lived in a tent until cold weather set in.

When winter broke, they devised the idea of digging into a side hill, the front of which contained the stone wall relic of an ancient boat landing, used before Devils Lake moved away from the city, due to drying up.

All of their home, therefore, is under the ground. Their beds are merely bunks, made of straw, but they have ample bed clothing, and Mrs. Nichols says that they did not suffer from the cold, even when the temperature was 30 below zero. A small two-lid cookstove suffices to heat the dugout and cook their meals.

The discovery was made by Robert W. Dyson, superintendent of the Midwest Power company.

U. S. TO HOLD FUNDS UNTIL GERMANS PAY

Alien Property Custodian Says U. S. Will Retain Seized Property

Fargo, Mar. 23.—The United States government has control of about $350,000,000 in alien property held as a guarantee that Germany will under the terms of the peace treaty, pay to this country approximately $200,000,000 in claims arising out of the war. Col. Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian of the United States, is quoted as saying in a newspaper interview here today.

Ninety-three percent of the individuals whose property is held will eventually have their property returned to them, Col. Miller is reported to have said.

In all instances where the property is worth less than $10,000 return is ordered, according to Col. Miller.

The custodian is the guest of William Steele of Fargo and is on the way to the Pacific on a government mission.

Five Million Dollars More for Taxes Than Dividends

INDUSTRY to live and be successful must earn sufficient money to compensate the three major factors who have investment interest in the enterprise.

First, the stockholder who has invested his savings in the business; second, the employee who has invested his time and talents; third, the people who have given property protection and the right to do business.

Ten years ago the Standard Oil Company, Inc. was dissolved under an order of the United States Supreme Court, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) became an independent organization, controlled by a Board of Directors elected by the Stockholders.

In the ten years of its existence, as an independent organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has paid in wages the sum of 335 million dollars to the employees who have invested their time and talents in the service of the Company.

To the Federal, State, County and Municipal Governments, who have furnished property and police protection, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has paid, in the form of taxes, approximately 79 million dollars in cash, while the stockholders whose thrift and enterprise have made the business possible have been paid cash dividends of 74 million dollars.

In a word the Company has paid, during the past ten years over 5 million dollars more in taxes than the stockholders have received as dividends.

These payments have been possible only because the management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has conducted its business in a highly efficient and satisfactory manner, and has won public support through the sheer merit of the service the Company has rendered, and the superior quality of the goods it has made and sold.

In addition to these cash payments the Company has succeeded in accumulating an invested surplus which has enabled it to largely expand its activities and intensify the service it renders the public by meeting the insistent demands for petroleum products which have become indispensable to our social and economic welfare.
